

Behaviour Curriculum 2024-2025

At Stimpson Avenue Academy, we want to prepare our pupils for the life that lies ahead of them and believe that explicit teaching of outstanding behaviour is an integral part of this. Our behaviour curriculum has been designed to build our pupils' character, preparing them for a successful future. Through our behaviour curriculum, we teach outstanding behaviour through clear expectations, routines and opportunities for all staff and children to rehearse, model and refine these behaviours. We want our pupils to understand how and why we behave and to have frequent opportunities to practise doing so, in order for these behaviours to become intrinsic in their day to day lives. Our behaviour curriculum is designed to be accessible for pupils from Nursery to Year Six and is adapted to suit the needs of all pupils including those with SEND and other additional needs – we want every child to succeed.

Every child deserves to be the best they can be.

Intent—aspirations for our pupils

At Stimpson Avenue Academy, we want exemplary behaviour to be an unspoken expectation. Our behaviour curriculum is based around:

- ⇒ Teaching, not telling, children how to behave
- ⇒ Ensuring all adults are calm, consistent and fair in their response to behaviour
- ⇒ Having clear and concise expectations, routines, rewards and sanctions that everyone follows
- ⇒ Focusing explicitly on positive behaviour: recognising, describing and explaining what we want to see
- ⇒ Adapting our approaches, where needed, for specific pupils with additional needs

Implementation—teaching the

We believe that, in order for pupils to behave well, they must not only be taught explicitly, but be given plenty of opportunity to rehearse, practise and refine their behaviour. Our behaviour curriculum is based on a firm foundation of research such as Rosenshine’s principles of instruction and Willingham’s ideas about memory. Students can improve their confidence and fluency of behaviour routines and expectations by engaging in plenty of practice – so our curriculum is designed to do just that. Our teachers will dedicate plenty of time over the first few weeks reminding, practising and reinforcing these behaviours and will continue to do so throughout the year, as necessary.

The process for teaching behaviour explicitly is as follows

IDENTIFY the behaviour we expect

Explicitly TEACH behaviour

MODEL the behaviour we are expecting

PRACTISE behaviour

NOTICE excellent behaviour

CREATE conditions for excellent behaviour

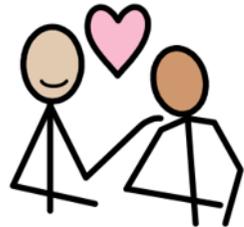

It is important that all school staff know the details of this curriculum, teach it explicitly to children and continuously maintain the high standards we set. By doing so we support each other to create a culture where pupils feel safe and are able to learn in an optimised environment and where teachers are free to teach with minimal disruptions to learning.

Our school motto is... We dream. We believe. We achieve.

Our core values are...

Kindness

Resilience

Respect

Our behaviour principles are...

 Be Ready	 Be Respectful	 Be Safe
We arrive at school on time, every time We get to lessons on time. We wear the correct uniform with pride and have the right clothes for PE and playing outdoors. We make sure we have the right equipment for the day. We take part fully in lessons and show resilience.	We always listen when an adult is talking. We always listen to pupils in our class giving ideas and feedback. We are polite and show good manners to everyone. We respect difference and know we are all equal. We look after our equipment and share it. We look after our environment and never drop litter. We respect the law and the rules of school and society	We follow instructions -first time, every time. We do not tolerate bullying of any kind. We walk sensibly around our school. We line up sensibly. We know who to go to for help and support. We stay safe online and outside school. We use equipment safely.

At Stimpson Avenue Academy, we use the Zones of Regulation throughout the whole school. We want to teach all of our children good coping and regulation strategies so they can help themselves when they experience anxiety or stress. In the classroom, sometimes children experience anxiety when faced with a tricky learning problem or challenge. By teaching them how to cope with these feelings might make them better at tackling learning challenges and build better resilience so they don't give up so easily when faced with difficulty.

We want children at Stimpson Avenue Academy to grow into successful teenagers then adults. Teaching the children at a young age about managing their feelings will support them in later life so that they don't turn to negative coping strategies which affect their mental and physical wellbeing.

We aim to help children to:

- ⇒ Recognise when they are in the different Zones and learn how to change or stay in the Zone they are in.
- ⇒ Increase their emotional vocabulary so they can explain how they are feeling.
- ⇒ Recognise when other people are in different Zones, thus developing better empathy.
- ⇒ Develop an insight into what might make them move into the different Zones.
- ⇒ Understand that emotions, sensory experiences such as lack of sleep or hunger and their environment might influence which Zone they are in.
- ⇒ Develop problem-solving skills and resilience
- ⇒ Identify a range of calming and alerting strategies that support them (known as their personal 'toolkit').

What are the different Zones?

Blue Zone: low level of arousal; not ready to learn; feels sad, sick, tired, bored, moving slowly.

Green Zone: calm state of alertness; optimal level to learn; feels happy, calm, feeling okay, focused.

Yellow Zone: heightened state of alertness; elevated emotions; has some control; feels frustrated, worried, silly/wiggly, excited, loss of some control.

Red Zone: heightened state of alertness and intense emotions; not an optimal level for learning; out of control; feels mad

BLUE ZONE Sad Sick Tired Bored Moving Slowly	GREEN ZONE Happy Calm Feeling Okay Focused Relaxed	YELLOW ZONE Frustrated Worried Silly/Wiggly Excited Loss of Some Control	RED ZONE Mad/Angry Terrified Elated/Ecstatic Devastated Out of Control

Scripted Language to support behaviour management

- ◆ Use the child's name when you begin to speak to them - it addresses them and shows them that they have your full attention and that you mean to sort the situation out for and with them.
- ◆ "I can see something is wrong" – a phrase like this acknowledges their feelings and helps to reduce the emotion so that you can move on to a more logical conversation.
- ◆ "I am here to help you" – a phrase like this offers the child a safe and constructive environment where they know that the point is to resolve the problem that led to the behaviour and not just to punish them for it (though note that while this is important and is most likely to address the issue effectively, it may still be necessary for the adult to issue a consequence so that the child is clear that regardless of the reason for the behaviour, the behaviour itself was not acceptable).
- ◆ "Talk and I will listen" - this tactic provides children with a calm option to explain what's on their mind and again is most likely to address the issue that the child had/has effectively, so that the unacceptable behaviour won't be repeated in the future.
- ◆ "Come with me and we'll talk about it..." – quite often it will be useful to remove the child from their current setting, gently encouraging them to walk with you or using open arm movements to guide them to sit somewhere quiet and calm.

Language of Choice and Assertive Discipline

Using Language of Choice and Assertive Discipline In disciplining children, adults are not only seeking to stop an immediate undesirable behaviour, but also to teach them about the impact of their behaviour on themselves and others, and about the power of their own choice. This helps them learn how to avoid the undesirable behaviour (and so also the undesirable consequence) for the longer term. Using ‘language of choice’ is in contrast to using ‘language of demand’. If you demand something of someone, for example “If you don’t stop talking now, you’ll get a ‘time out’!” you are directly prompting one of two natural responses, which is either to:

- ⇒ Resist the demand (and create conflict)
- ⇒ Accede/give in to the demand

Instead, language of choice places responsibility for behaviour with the child, for example, “If you choose to interrupt again while I am explaining this you will have to receive a ‘time out’. Think about making the right choice. Thank you!” Crucially, this approach bypasses the natural instinct to resist, that can more easily occur when we are simply told what to do, while still leaving the option of a consequence open if the child does not make the right choice.

On the following pages are sample scripts giving the sort of language and guidance that teaching staff at Stimpson Avenue have been trained to adopt. Although Scripts 1, 2 and 3 naturally escalate (so if Script 1 fails to have the desired effect you would tend to step up to Script 2, and so on), depending on the circumstances, you might start with any of the four scripts. You would also, of course, need to amend the name and detail to suit each occasion.

Script 1: Statement of Reality (i.e. simply tell them what you see)

“Fred, you’re... (e.g. running in the corridor/tapping your pencil on the desk/talking when I’m speaking...)”

- ⇒ Use a firm but calm voice. This helps to show that you mean business but in a non-confrontational way that might otherwise lead to a defensive response.
- ⇒ Don’t ask ‘why?’ they are doing what they’re doing – It’s confrontational and you don’t need to know why. They just need to know that you’ve noticed it.
- ⇒ After hearing the statement of reality many children will quickly change their behaviour without the need to take the script any further or without attracting a consequence.
- ⇒ Remember to give them ‘take up time’ to think about their behaviour and respond. It may even be desirable to deal with another task or child, to temporarily divert attention away from them, and allow sufficient space and take-up time.
- ⇒ When they are demonstrating a positive change make sure to acknowledge that with praise: “Thank you Fred for... (e.g. walking/putting your pencil down/listening nicely...)” If the child’s behaviour doesn’t change after a reasonable take-up time, move on to Script 2.

Script 2: Tell them the behaviour you want to see “

“Fred, I need you to...(e.g. walk in the corridor – thank you/ put your pencil down – thank you/ listen when I am speaking – thank you)”

- ⇒ Be assertive and avoid starting or ending with ‘please’. Use ‘I need you to...’ and end with ‘thank you’ instead. This carries an expectation that they will do as you have asked of them and helps support the idea that your request is not optional.
- ⇒ If you then see a positive change in behaviour, acknowledge it with a further ‘thank you’ or with a gesture (e.g. a smile or a thumbs-up).
- ⇒ Should you not see a positive change in behaviour, move on to using a ‘language of choice’ in Script 3.

Script 3: Statement using Language of Choice

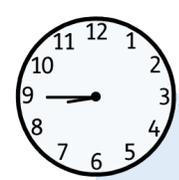

“Fred, you are choosing to behave this way and if you choose to continue to... (e.g. run/ tap your pencil/ speak when I’m speaking) then I will have to [consider a suitable consequence]”

- ⇒ You need to remain calm, without any sense of agitation or lack of control, while making it clear to the child that they are responsible for the consequences of their actions; that what has happened so far and what will follow is their choice.
- ⇒ Be careful to make sure that any consequence you threaten is proportionate to the behaviour, is reasonable in the circumstances and is something that you know you can and will carry through if the behaviour doesn’t change.
- ⇒ You may need to ignore minor secondary behaviour – stomping about, muttering, or a bit of back-chat – the most important thing is that they have made the right choice about their initial undesirable behaviour. Where appropriate, allowing a child to have the last word can help resolve or avoid further conflict and can also be valuable in helping you to role-model grown-up behaviour.
- ⇒ If the child chooses to do the right thing, then you must praise them for making the right choice. This will help them learn that it’s good to do the right thing and that you are pleased with their choice. Every child likes to be praised and acknowledged on the inside, even if they might not show it on the outside: “Well done/Thank you Fred, you made the right choice”
- ⇒ Should the child choose not to do as you have asked, then you must follow through with the consequence that you threatened. This is very important so that the child comes to understand that you mean what you say. Failing to be consistent in carrying out consequences that you have threatened quickly undermines your authority and indicates to the child that they need not listen to your future requests for improved behaviour.
- ⇒ Once a consequence has been issued you should see it through. Don’t cave in to protests, remove or reduce the sanction. If good behaviour follows, then reward that separately, but still maintain the consequence.

Script 4: Reinforce and depersonalise

“Fred, at Stimpson Avenue we respect and listen so that everyone can learn” Repeatedly referring to whole school expectations can be very helpful in reminding children of an objective set of rules and values which never change. This approach indicates that the request is fair and consistent; it is simply what has always been and what will always be expected, rather than personal ‘against’ them.

At the start of the day...

Pupils will...

- Walk to their entrance.
- Stand quietly and wait.
- When the doors open, enter quietly.
- Say good morning to peers and adults.
- Put away belongings quickly and sensibly.
- Find their seat and begin morning work.

Why we expect to see this behaviour...

- Providing a calm, purposeful start to the day.
- Ensure all pupils are ready for their learning.
- Children and adults feel valued and welcomed which sets a positive tone for the day ahead.

School adults will...

- Ensure there is purposeful morning work prepared and ready.
- Open the doors on time. Stand at the door and greet all pupils warmly.
- Engage with parents openly.
- Deal with immediate concerns or arrange a follow up discussion.
- Encourage children to settle quickly through meaningful interactions.
- Support pupils with early morning tasks.

Sanctions/consequences for not following expectations

- Positive, gentle reminders of the expectations.
- Apply behaviour policy. (using staged approach)

In the classroom...
